Retail — more than you may think

Greetings,

Career Source is offering a free two-week retail training and certification program to help you find a job and advance in a retail career.

For info, contact Laurie Holman at **lholman@yourcareersource.com**

Why retail? Because:

---

- Retail training can lead to many careers, including ...
  - human resources
  - project management
  - training
  - loss prevention
  - facility management
  - visual merchandising
  - purchasing
  - finance

... and more.

- Retail employers are eager to hire grads of this program.
- Certification will help you get hired or get ahead, at no cost to you.
- You'll get help finding a job.
- Retail jobs pay well when you move up — and you can move up fast in this industry.

Here are a few examples of where you can go and what you can earn in retail in Massachusetts:

Prevention Loss Manager (two steps above entry-level)
– average salary $55,000

Buyer (two steps above entry-level)
– average salary $67,000

Store Manager (three steps above entry-level, high school education required)
– average salary $57,000

Training Manager (three steps above entry-level,
high school education required)
– average salary $58,000

---

The next class starts in September at Career Source in Cambridge. Classes meet from 9:30 a.m.–2:30 p.m.
